COLONY "BLACK-OUT" ON DECEMBER 9

Temporary Regulations Announced

The following official communiqué was issued by the Colonial Secretariat yesterday:—

The attention of the Public is invited to the Temporary Regulations under the Lighting Control Ordinance, 1936, providing for a practice "black-out" of the Colony on Thursday, December 9, 1937, from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. This practice "black-out" will be similar to that effected on March 21 this year between the hours of 2 a.m. and 4 a.m. but the time of night now selected is one at which the use of lighting by the general public is at or near its maximum.

It is therefore essential that all members of the public, and in particular, householders and owners and managers of business premises, blocks of flats, tenement houses, hotels, clubs and places of entertainment should thoroughly acquaint themselves with the Temporary Regulations set out below, and make such arrangements in respect of premises occupied or controlled by them as are necessary to ensure the proper observance of these Regulations.

The supplies of electricity and gas will not be discontinued or curtailed during the practice "black-out," and therefore responsibility for the proper observance of the Regulations will rest on every individual having under his control any form of lighting, whether private or public.

Occupiers of private houses, flats and tenements should satisfy themselves beforehand that rooms which are likely to be in use during the "black-out" period, are adequately furnished with blinds, shutters or light-proof curtains.

Particular attention should be paid to the following lights, responsibility for which is apt to be overlooked:—lights at the entrances and on the staircases and landings of blocks of flats and tenement houses, at gateways, over the doors of garages, in servants' quarters and on private roads, paths, steps and terraces. Owners and occupiers of property on which such lights are installed should either make careful arrangements for dealing with such lights in accordance with the Regulations or satisfy themselves that such arrangements have been made.

PEACE HINGES ON IMPORTANT NANKING CONVERSATIONS

GERMANY OFFERS MEDIATION

CHINA'S PARTICIPATION IN ANTI-COMINTERN PACT SOUGHT

PEACE—WITH CHINA JOINING THE JAPANESE, GERMAN AND ITALIAN ANTI-COMINTERN BLOC—OR THE BITTEREST WAR TO THE END HINGES ON THE OUTCOME OF CONVERSATIONS AT PRESENT TAKING PLACE AT NANKING BETWEEN GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK AND DR. TRAUTMANN, GERMAN AMBASSADOR TO CHINA. THE LATTER LEFT HANKOW BY STEAMER ON NOVEMBER 30 ACCOMPANIED BY MR. H. SUMO, VICE-MINISTER FOR FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

IT IS LEARNED FROM AUTHORITATIVE SOURCES THAT THE GERMAN OFFER FOR PEACE IN THE SINO-JAPANESE CONFLICT INCLUDES, FIRSTLY, A DEFINITE ASSURANCE FROM JAPAN THAT SHE HAS NO TERRITORIAL AMBITIONS IN NORTH CHINA AND MERELY DESIRES ECONOMIC CO-OPERATION WITH CHINA; SECONDLY, THAT CHINA SHOULD PARTICIPATE IN THE ANTI-COMINTERN PACT; AND THIRDLY, THAT JAPANESE TROOPS SHOULD WITHDRAW FROM CHINESE TERRITORY.

THESE MINIMUM PEACE CONDITIONS, ARRANGED BY GERMANY, REPRESENT A DISTINCT CONCESSION COMPARED WITH THE ORIGINAL TERMS LAID DOWN BY JAPAN WHICH INCLUDED THE RETIREMENT OF GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK, DISSOLUTION OF THE KUOMINTANG, DISBANDMENT OF CHINESE FORCES AND OTHER SEVERE POLITICAL CONDITIONS.

While it cannot be ascertained whether Germany's peace offers are acceptable to Chiang Kai-shek, it is understood that the Generalissimo will probably make counter-proposals but it is stated that while he agreed to discuss the matter with the German Ambassador this does not in any way indicate that the Chinese Government has completely abandoned the policy of armed resistance and it is pointed out that China never wished for war with Japan and always clearly indicated that she was ready to settle differences peacefully if Japan respects Chinese territorial and administrative integrity.

Since Germany has now offered to act as mediator China naturally is ready and willing to discuss the feeling among Chinese leaders in Hankow places very little hope on a successful conclusion of the present Nanking conversations as they are doubtful if the offer is sincere and believe it may possibly be an attempt to alienate the present support which China is receiving from the signatories of the Nine-Power Treaty and the Soviet.

Meanwhile, Chinese leaders are disappointed at the lack of immediate and effective material assistance from these sources. The Chinese would welcome formal declaration of sanctions against Japan or the declaration of war on Japan by the Soviet but, nevertheless, the realisation of both these possibilities are very remote. Opinion for continued resistance against Japan is still strong among Chinese leaders and news of the outcome of the Nanking conversations are anxiously awaited.—Reuter.

JAPANESE NOTIFIED OF MR. HOWE'S TRIP

Shanghai, Dec. 2. It is learned that the Japanese authorities in Shanghai have been notified that the members of the British Embassy, who are leaving for Shanghai from Hankow on December 3, are making the journey to Hong Kong by train. Besides the Charge d'Affaires, Mr. R. G. Howe, the party includes Mr. Douglas Mackillop, Counselor, and Mr. A. D. Blackburn, Chinese Counselor.

The journey is reminiscent of the trip made by 250 officers and members of the crew of H.M.S. Capetown who, in October, went from Hankow to Hong Kong in a chartered train which became known as "Capetown Second".—Reuter.

JAPANESE MARCH IN SETTLEMENT

The Japanese Army is staging a victory parade through the International Settlement, Shanghai, commencing at 11 a.m. today. The principal streets will be traversed and the parade will last for two and half hours.

The Shanghai Municipal Council, Major-General Telfer-Smollett and Brigadier-General Beaumont, have protested to the Japanese authorities.

TO-MORROW'S RACING DISCUSSED

St. Andrew's Stakes And "Ewo" Handicap

BY "LAST QUARTER"

AN ENTIRE PROGRAMME OF HANDICAP EVENTS WILL FORM THE ATTRACTION AT THE TWELFTH EXTRA RACE MEETING OF THE HONG KONG JOCKEY CLUB AT HAPPY VALLEY TO-MORROW AFTERNOON COMMENCING AT 2.00 P.M. THIS WILL BE THE PENULTIMATE MEETING OF THE 1937 RACING SEASON AND THOUGH ENTRIES ARE NOT ON THE LARGE SIDE THERE ARE DEFINITE PROMISES OF EVEN RACING WITH CLOSE FINISHES.

The main event will be the St. Andrew's Stakes, a handicap over one and a half miles for China ponies, with the winner of the St. George's Plate, 1937, and ponies classified "A" class barred. Several of the entrants are strongly fancied and a very keen finish should result. The owner of the winning pony will be presented with a cup in addition to the usual stakes.

A novelty event in the "Ewo" Handicap, to be ridden by members of the staff of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co. Ltd., and The Jardine Engineering Corporation, Ltd., opens the afternoon's racing. Punters here will not only be faced with the problem of weight but handicap as regards distance as well—a telling factor in past years.

The "Ewo Handicap," an unofficial race over one mile should attract a fair field and racing fans will undoubtedly welcome the opportunity of once again backing our former champion jockey, Mr. Leo Frost, whom I have been given to understand, will be coming down specially from Canton to participate in this "Hong" classic and will be taking out Donovan. Philanderer would have been a fairly safe bet each way were it not for the fact that this chestnut cracked up after a fast gallop some time last week. He has recovered somewhat and it started and sound, may yet prove to be dangerous. Morning, Tip, I am told, will have approximately 200 yards handicap, and for those looking for a substantial dividend I strongly recommend this diminutive Macao subscription pony. Emergency Call is fairly fit, and, given a good rider, may do the trick.

CHINESE RECAPTURE KWANGTEH

Hankow, Dec. 2.

In action for the first time, Chinese reinforcements from Szechuen, in a counter-offensive recaptured Kwangteh and advanced thirteen miles and re-occupied Szean according to Chinese dispatches from the front. If this is correct it means that the Japanese troops which entered Anhwei, thus extending the Shanghai war into a third province, have all been driven back into Chekiang Province.—Reuter.

NO CONFIRMATION IN LONDON

London, Dec. 2. No confirmation has been received in London of the Japanese Consul-General's reported threat to Hong Kong reported yesterday. It is pointed out, however, that had such a threat been made to H.E. the Governor, Sir Geoffrey Northcote, it would undoubtedly have been energetically replied to but hitherto no communication about the matter has been received from him.—Reuter.

HAIYEN RETAKEN BY CHINESE

Hanchow, Dec. 2: Haiyen, a town in the Hanchow Bay region south of Chappoo which was occupied by a Japanese landing party last week, has been recaptured by Chinese forces, according to an official announcement issued by the Chekiang provincial government to-day. A fleet of six Japanese planes reconnoitred over Yungchia, Yung-kang and the vicinity of Kwangteh to-day but flew away without dropping any bombs.—Central News.

Mass Flight To Australia

At 9.30 a.m. to-day the No. 204 General Reconnaissance Squadron of the Royal Air Force left Mount Batten, Plymouth, for Australia. The visit is being undertaken at the invitation of the Australian Government and the squadron will represent the Royal Air Force at the 150th anniversary celebrations of the state of New South Wales which will begin at Sydney in January.

The flight will be the longest formation flight yet undertaken by the Royal Air Force and by the time the squadron returns to England next May it will have covered a distance of fully 30,000 miles. The flight is being undertaken by five "London Second" flying boats under the command of Wing-Commander Lloyd. Air Commander Goble, of the Royal Australian Air Force who has been serving for the past two years under the scheme for interchange of officers of similar rank between the Royal Air Force and the Dominions' air forces will accompany the flight to Australia. The route to Port Darwin involves several long crossings over land by the five flying boats. One boat is detailed as a guard ship to remain in constant wireless touch with the Air Ministry and Headquarters of the Royal Air Force Command through which the squadron is flying. Hourly reports of the progress of the cruise will be communicated to both these points by wireless throughout the flight.—British Wireless Service.

The squadron will spend Christmas in Singapore, says a Reuter message from London.

Heavy Fighting In Tanyang Sector

Shanghai, Dec. 2. Heavy fighting is raging in the Tanyang sector where the Chinese are making a desperate bid to check the Japanese advances. The Japanese are making extensive use of aeroplanes in their attempt to dislodge the Chinese.

Meanwhile, the surprising revelation that Chinese remnants are still holding Kiangyin forts was made by the Japanese Army spokesman to-day who said that the Japanese bombed the forts and also for the first time extended aerial operations to the north banks of the Yangtse opposite the forts. Meanwhile the possibility of the Chinese Air Force playing an active part in the war in future is seen from a reliable report that further Soviet planes have been delivered to China.—Reuter.

ST. LOUIS INDUSTRIAL HOME

Remarkable Progress In Ten Years

The Hon. Dr. R. H. Kotewall presented the certificates and prizes at the annual ceremony at the St. Louis Industrial Home yesterday. The occasion also marked the 10th anniversary of the assumption of direction by the Salesian Society.

Rev. Father John Guarona, Superior, received the guests, who included Very Rev. Adolph J. Paschang, Right Rev. Henry Valtorta, Rev. Father R. Gallagher S. J., Mr. F. H. Loseby, Mr. The Ka-po and Inspector W. Mair.

In his report, the Superior said: Although St. Louis dates as far back as 1900 it is only since October 1927 that the Salesians took over the direction. When they came, there were very few boys and the school premises were almost beyond repair. Our first step was to open new workshops opposite the Tai Ping Theatre, with European masters in charge. These workshops were for Printers and Bookbinders, Ironworkers, Carpenters, Tailors and Shoemakers.

NUMBERS INCREASE

An immediate increase in numbers of boarders encouraged us, while already a few day-scholars were attending our Primary School.

It soon became evident, however, that the surroundings would hamper the further development of our Trade Schools. Accordingly, in 1933, the offer was accepted of the management of the Aberdeen Industrial School, whither were removed mechanics, carpenters, tailors and shoemakers, leaving at St. Louis only the printing and bookbinding departments with a few interns.

PRESSING NEED

It is interesting to think that our numbers continue to rise year by year. We began as I have said, in 1927 with a roll of 60 boys. In 1937 we had a regular attendance of 520 which is something like an average rise of 60 per year.

The pressing need we have for a hall for reunions and school functions was so great that we decided to erect one. We have since had to suspend operations, however, owing to an unlocked for series of setbacks.

St. Louis, as you know, has no income of its own but lives from day to day on the generous help of the public and from the Government.

DR. KOTEWALL'S SPEECH

He then called upon Dr. Kotewall to present the prizes, after which Dr. Kotewall said that he counted it an honour to have been invited to participate in a function which must have given much joy to both the staff and the students. He had always had a great admiration for the work of the Salesian Society, the objects of which are to educate boys of the middle and poorer classes to fit them to be good citizens.

As far back as 1925 he had heard of the work of the Salesian Fathers, for in that year he went with the then Secretary for Chinese Affairs, Mr. D. W. Troutman, and a few Chinese friends to Macao to inspect and study the work of an industrial school established and managed by the Salesian Society. As a result of the favourable impression gained on that visit, the promoters of the Aberdeen Industrial School invited the Society to manage it.

FR. GUARONA'S WORK

It was on the visit mentioned that he first made the acquaintance of Father John Guarona. It was a great pleasure to him to see the Father at the head of the St. Louis School to-day.

"St. Louis," continued Dr. Kotewall, "has certainly made remarkable progress since the Salesian Society took over its management ten years ago. There were then 34 boys; there are now 450 day-scholars and 80 boarders. Besides giving the boys good cultural education up to the middle-school standard, the boys are taught a trade."

"The progress made has, in my view, been due to the hard work and devotion of Fr. Guarona and his loyal assistants. I congratulate them on the remarkable results achieved, as on the completion of ten years' good work in behalf of the poor boys in Hong Kong."

Dr. Kotewall ended by exhorting the boys to do their utmost in their studies so as to prove their gratitude to their teachers.

The ceremony took place in the Home's playing field, which was decorated for the occasion with flags and bunting. Music was supplied by the School Brass Band, and the programme included songs by the younger members of the School and drill evolutions by boys of the Middle School.

The Superior of the School wishes to take the opportunity to thank the following gentlemen and firms who kindly donated prizes:—Mr. N. B. Mohamed, Mr. C. Mose, Mr. S. L. Rekmann, Mr. R. A. Samad, Mr. F. L. Lam, Mr. James Yau, Sports Publishing Co., China Emporium Ltd., Che Sun Co., Wing On Co., A. S. Watson & Co., Kai Tak, Luen Cheong, Young Shing, Universal Type Founders, Yau Tak, Kwong On and Ching Lung.

SCHOLARSHIPS FOR STUDY IN GERMANY

Merchant's Gift

A Hamburg merchant, as thanks-offering for the German Rhodes Scholarships at Oxford has founded a number of annual scholarships to enable students of the universities of Great Britain and of the British Empire to enjoy a year's study in Germany.

Each scholarship is of the value of 3,000 registered marks, or about £250.

These Hanseatic Scholarships, as they are called, will be awarded without examination, by recommendation and interview, and may be held in any subject.

It is the hope of the anonymous founder that they may do something "to further closer relations and understanding between the German and British peoples, and to promote a consciousness of European solidarity."

The same donor has also founded three annual prizes, each of the value of about £833, to be awarded in Great Britain, Holland and the Scandinavian countries respectively, for distinguished work in literature and the arts.

The first recipient of the Shakespeare Prize, as the British award has been named, will be Dr. R. Vaughan Williams, the composer.

He is charged with forging a promissory note, purporting to be made by the Yee Hop firm, of No. 10 Tai Wing Street, Wanchai, between January 2, 1936 and April 9 1936, and with uttering the same. The hearing of the case in which the Hip Cheong Yee Firm (plaintiffs), of No. 84 Des Voeux Road West, third floor, brought an action against Messrs. H. Scott and Company Limited, (defendants) of Mercantile Bank Building, top floor, was resumed before the Paine Judge, Mr. Justice R.E. Lindsell, at the Summary Court yesterday.

The plaintiffs' claim was for the sum of $907.50 damages suffered by the plaintiffs for breach of a contract dated August 31, 1937 and made between the plaintiffs and the defendants. The defendants agreed to sell and deliver to the plaintiffs 1,000 bags of "Battleship" flour ex S.S. Nankin, which the defendants failed to do. The plaintiffs also claimed for the costs of action.

POLICE OFFICER REWARDED

Long And Loyal Services

The presentation of the Colonial Police Long Service Medal to Inspector G. A. Stimson, who is retiring from the Force on pension, was made at Police Headquarters yesterday by the Hon. Mr. T. H. King, Inspector General of Police, during a parade of European officers. Inspector Stimson was supported by Chief Inspector R. Shannon, and Sub-Inspector M. Hunt was in charge of the parade.

Making the presentation, Mr. King went over the recipient's record briefly, and said he was leaving behind an example for all the younger men to follow. He wished him and his family good health and happy times in the Old Country.

Inspector Stimson has had a distinguished career in the Force, having been commended on no less than five occasions. Born in London in 1892, he was appointed a constable in February 21, 1913, arriving in the Colony a month later. From 1917 to 1919 he saw service in France, and upon his return he was promoted to the rank of Lance-Sergeant.

In 1921 he was promoted to Sergeant and four years later, he became a sub-inspector, followed by another commendation for zeal and diligence in securing the arrest and conviction of two men for assisting in the management of an unlawful society, and six others for being members of an unlawful society at Castle Peak.

Inspector Stimson reached his present rank in 1929 and three years later he was again commended for the able manner in which he handled a difficult situation in East Street, Quarry Bay, when a disorderly crowd which was threatening the Police Station was dispersed and six persons were arrested and convicted.

Insp. Stimson is leaving for Home with his family by the P. and O. liner Rajputana on December 11, and the wishes of his many friends and colleagues for a happy retirement will go with him. His place as Divisional Inspector, Central, will be taken by Inspector R. Shannon.

BANISHEE SENTENCED

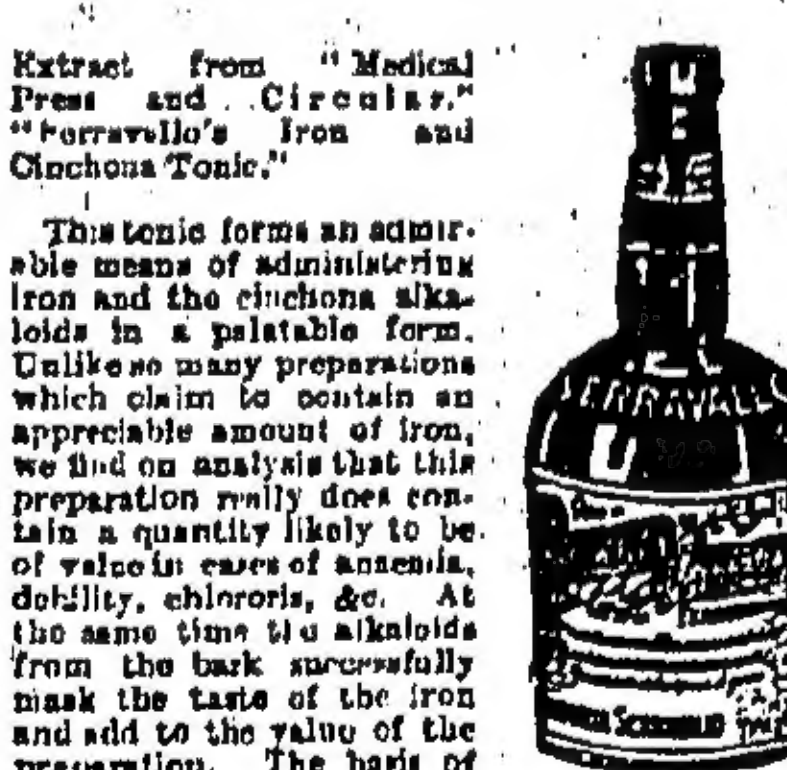

Banished for five years in August last, Tsol Kau, aged 26, returned to the Colony a few days ago. Before Mr. R. A. D. Forrest at the Central Magistracy yesterday he was charged with breach of the deportation ordinance, and was sentenced to eight months' hard labour.

Reasons why 'MANSION' is so economical

'Mansion' being a highly concentrated wax polish, only very little is needed to give a mirror-like brilliance, to a large floor surface.

'Mansion', the preservative polish, lengthens the life of linoleums.

Because 'Mansion' gives such a lasting brilliance, floors need less frequent polishing.

MID-SEASON PARIS FASHIONS

NEW COLOURS FOR EVENING

SEQUIN EMBROIDERY

Black dinner dresses and richly coloured evening frocks have been ordered for the winter season. Molyneux's dinner dress of black silk crepe lightly scattered with black sequins and trimmed with a draped, sequin-embroidered sash tied in a big bow on one side is a successful model. Another useful dinner dress has a slim skirt of black silk crepe and a yoke, covered back and long sleeves of black lace. Wine-red, cedar and darker browns, green and dull orange are new colours for the evening. Lelong allies two and three colours in a single ensemble and puts light coloured foundations with black and brown lace dresses. A brown lace dress worn at the Opera recently had a white satin foundation. There were also plain white, pale blue, and black dresses with which deep red velvet wraps were worn. Brocade tunics cut on slim lines went black skirts draped slightly at one side. Black lace tunics are also correct for such occasions.

Chanel's lace and tulle dresses look well over sequin embroidered foundations and chiffon draperies are used to relieve the severe lines of models embroidered all over with sequins. Thus a bronze-brown sequin skirt has a draped bodice and long panels of pink chiffon falling from the shoulders. Pale coloured chiffon falling from the shoulders. Pale coloured chiffon in two colours is put with silk crepe in several dresses. A dark blue crepe dress may have bands of pink and pale blue chiffon drawn back over either shoulder and falling to the ground behind. Triangular scarves of tulle and chiffon edged with lace go with picture frocks, while dresses designed upon more slender lines have long scarves cut in a piece with the bodices which can be draped about the neck-line in different ways. White chiffon is used for a dress with nine, narrow shirred ruffles on the skirt and emerald green satin shoulder-straps. Another white dress of fine silk crepe has flared panels shirred into the skirt at the hip-line. Ribbon trimmings are used upon lace dresses embroidered with silver threads, and broad tulle ribbons are shaped into busts and shoulder-frills for dresses in light materials. These points show that the efforts which have been made by the Centre du Ruban to bring ribbon into fashion have been successful.

LACE AND TULLE

Lace and tulle are the fabrics chosen by Mainbocher for youthful eventful evening dresses and the new tulle dresses with wide skirts look like garden bouquets in three and four sweet-pea shades. Artificial flowers in delicate colours trim some of these frocks at the neck-lines; others have bodices which are slightly gathered into small points. Additional ways of using tulle for evening dresses introduce long transparent skirts upon day-length foundations, and full, tightly gathered skirts with sequin embroidery down the front instead of at the back or sides of the skirt.

Dresses with slimly fitting skirts are most usual at public functions unless it be a gala occasion. An evening ensemble of dark violet-blue silk crepe is correct for the theatre. Such a dress might have a pointed neckline turned down in wide revers embroidered with silver arabesques and a short jacket to match with long sleeves. Simple dresses of black or white jersey look well with draped bodices and gold brooches as their sole ornaments. All designs dresses of this kind, and besides the classical black and white, such colours as violet, mauve, green, and dull brick-red figure in her latest collection. A white jersey dress with a loose straight skirt has a gathered bodice held in firm lines with narrow bands of the same material and a violet-coloured jersey dress has cowl-drapery at the neckline and fullness drawn into the back of the skirt. Straight fitted models and picture frocks have trimmed hem-lines. Cerise-pink crepe is frilled round the hem of a dull green dress and a border of black monkey fur falls in fringes round the feet on a long, straight black evening coat which closes edge-to-edge.

EVENING WRAPS

A dress of tawny-red crepe with lowest drapery on the left side of the skirt has a becoming line, and with it goes a short cape encrusted with arabesques of green, violet, blue, and red faccloth. Another unusual evening wrap is a cape of

Round The Shops

Anticipating the last minute scramble for Xmas presents, LANE, CRAWFORD'S LADIES SALOON have taken the precaution to get in early a stock of nice things so that the ladies-about-town may do their shopping leisurely, and the one result is that there is a marvellous collection of nice things in this store.

Cosmetics hold a place of honour, with Elizabeth Arden beauty make-up boxes the predominant feature. There are also mirrors, Yardley's soaps and perfumes and bath salts. There is always such a wide demand for gifts that Lane, Crawford's have taken no risks and have just received the latest in hand-bags, book-ends, bridge-sets (and very nice ones too), fancy pencils, vanity cases, coat hangers, diaries, shopping lists, fancy hand-mirrors, powder bowls and a host of other things that are definitely Christmas-y.

At RIVELLE'S the writer fell in love with the smart dresses and evening gowns, all ordered specially for the festive season.

One model, in black taffeta combined with black velvet, with square necklines, had velvet ruching down the sides of the blouse. Another very attractive dress was in navy blue heavy silk, finished off with a narrow black baby ribbon round the neck, sleeves and bottom of the skirt.

There are also afternoon frocks, too—all so nice.

MAYO'S have just unpacked a very lovely shipment of heavy shipment of heavy woollen dresses that are so much in the fashion these days. There are some very pretty hats too, to go with the dresses and if one is very fastidious, Mayo's can always turn out hats of any shape and style to suit the taste.

faille gathered into deep folds and mounted upon a belted vest, while more delicate in colour and material is a short gathered evening coat in several thicknesses of pink, yellow, and periwinkle-blue chiffon, which is tied closely at the waist-line and flares out in a full peplum.

Tunics with irregular lines are in fashion. Some drop in points at the back, others are slanted across the backs and fronts of the skirts and rounded at the side. Allx has a dress of fine silk crepe checked and striped in parts only with narrow gold lines. The bodice of this dress is worked in checks, and the slim tunic is bordered with gold lines, and stands out against the long straight skirt.

Necklines are not necessarily low this season, and many dresses have modestly cut backs and bodices, which fit closely against the throat. The square-cut bodices of picture frocks may even be filled in with lace gimpes fastening round the neck upon velvet ribbons. Feminine accessories of lace and tulle are correct for the evening and short jackets of white guipure go with black dresses. Hair ornaments are made of tulle and sequins, tiny sequin caps covered with tulle veils, glittering sequin flowers held in position with coloured hair-ribbons, and lace scarves which are tied over the head peasant-fashion. They new evening sandals are embroidered with sequins to match the latest belts and bags. Deep colours rather than pale shades are correct, and dark laces mounted upon white foundations make pretty court shoes to go with individual dresses.

NECK NOTIONS

A dainty trimming, which has come back into favour, is the narrow gathered frill of lace, an inch or so wide, stitched round the neck, the narrow V front, and the cuffs of a house dress. This decoration looks crisp and charming, and is so little trouble to attach that it is surprising that it has not appeared earlier. Try it on a frock that is beginning to look rather sorry for itself—and note tonic effect.

A novel idea with jabot or revers worn with a tailored suit, is to clip these on instead of sewing them. A set of little paste clips serves the purpose admirably.

DURBAN'S MONKEYS TO DIE

Because of their increasing depredations, Durban's wild monkeys have been sentenced to death. The Director of Parks and Gardens is to take steps to remove them.

Latterly the monkeys have become more daring. They have bitten native servants who attempted to drive them from the fruit crops, and have raided schools and stolen the children's food. Many complaints about them have been received by the City Council.

INSIDE GLIMPSE OF HOLLYWOOD

A real gala Hollywood premiere, complete with pressing throngs, searchlights, radio announcer and celebrities, is one of the thrilling high lights of "A Star Is Born," David O. Selznick's technicolor production co-starring Janet Gaynor and Fredric March, which begins at the Majestic Theatre to-day.

William A. Wellman directed this glamorous story of Hollywood's "inside," which casts Janet as a little country girl who came to Hollywood in search of fame, faced the crushing odds of 100,000 to one and made good.

Adolphe Menjou, May Robson, Andy Devine and Lionel Stander are prominently featured in this first up-to-the-minute story to be filmed in technicolor, while others playing important roles are Owen Moore, Peggy Wood, Elizabeth Jennis, Edgar Kennedy, J. C. Nugent and Guinn Williams.

Such world-famous Hollywood landmarks as the Trocadero, Grauman's Chinese Theatre, the Brown Derby and the Biltmore Bowl as it looks during the annual banquet of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, are shown in natural colour for the first time.

Fishermen in the Mount's Bay, Cornwall, have seen several tunny near the shore, although nobody has yet caught any.

DEVIL'S PLAYGROUND

A powerful dynamic drama, Columbia's "Devil's Playground," which opens to-day at the King's Theatre, unassumingly lays claim to being one of the most entertaining films of the new season. In breath taking tempo it tells a story of sunken submarines and shattered loves—tragic union of two events which have been stirring related in the brilliant script prepared by Liam O'Flaherty, Jerome Chodorov and Dalton Trumbo.

Richard Dix, as the rather glib and unsophisticated sailor, who is the "best deep sea diver in the U.S. Navy," turns in a well-nigh perfect performance. Chester Morris, as Dix's pal and a "Don Juan" among girls of every port, provides the element of dramatic clast.

FLIGHT FROM GLORY

An unusual cross-section of life among exiled men who daily flit with death and who are unable to forsake their dangerous occupation is grippingly revealed in "Flight from Glory," which brings Chester Morris and Whitney Bourne to the screen in the leading roles.

Laid in a bleak South American air base the story grimly lays bare the forlorn hopes of a group of disgraced aviators who have accepted an offer from a mercenary airline owner in Peru to pilot his condemned ships over the treacherous Andes Mountains.

These flyers with diversified pasts react differently to their hopeless plight under the tyranny of the despot who has a mortgage on their lives. One by one the men meet their fate in their flying coffins, and one by one they are replaced with new outcast flyers from the States.

Chester Morris, Whitney Bourne, Onslow Stevens, Van Heflin, Douglas Walton, Rita LaRoy and other capable players are responsible for the powerful characterizations in "Flight from Glory" which Lew Landers directed for RKO Radio Pictures.

"Flight from Glory" has its run at the Queen's Theatre to-day.

TROUBLE AT MIDNIGHT

All the excitement and thrills of the old West have now been transferred further east, where the modern cattle-rustler has begun to operate. Today the cattle-thieves use large fleets of fast trucks. They creep up stealthily under cover of night, raid a dairy farm or cattle ranch and roar down the road before pursuit can overtake them.

These gangs are organized, armed with machine guns. They lay their plans carefully and carry them out swiftly. They have scouted for a market and found dealers who will handle the stolen cattle. The matter is fast approaching a racket of dangerous proportions.

This new situation in banditry is exposed for the first time on the screen by Universal's dramatic film, "Trouble at Midnight," which has its run at the Alhambra Theatre today. The featured play-

MOTORIST 14 MILES FROM HIS CAR

Held To Be In Charge

Is a man still in charge of his car when he is a mile and a half away?

This question was discussed at Dorchester when James Guy Michael Payne Audain, Independent, of West Coker, Somerset, was ordered to pay £15, including £2 9s 6d costs, for being under the influence of drink while in charge of a car. His licence was suspended for 12 months.

It was stated that the car was found near cross-roads at 5.30 a. m. and that at 6.45 a. m. Audain was seen by a policeman walking along the road one and a half miles from the car. He said he was fetching a fresh supply of petrol. The constable believed Audain to be drunk.

Mr. Christopher Arrow, Audain's solicitor, submitted that Audain being that distance away from his car, he could not be held to have been in charge of it.

After the magistrates had ruled that there was a case to answer, Audain gave evidence. He said that he lost his way and ran out of petrol about midnight. When the constable saw him he was walking to Dorchester to get a bed and send someone to fetch the car.

Supt. Lovell: Who do you say was in charge of the car?

Audain: I should say the constable, as it was at the roadside.

SOLDIER'S WRONG IMPRESSION

Young Girl Resents Advances

Private Mathew Mitchell, of the Seaforth Highlanders, appeared before Mr. R. A. D. Forrest at the Central Magistrate yesterday charged with assault on Yuen Han, 16-year old girl, at 25 Luard Road on November 30.

Sub-Inspector Tuckett said the address was the residence of a girl who used to work in a beer hall. There were two sailors staying there, and defendant had gone to visit them on Tuesday night, but found them out. Complainant was employed as an amah there and defendant teased her and made suggestive advances. She evaded him and he left the place. Later he was alleged to have assaulted her.

In answer to his Worship, Mitchell said he was acting under a misapprehension, as he thought the girl was a prostitute. Inspector Tuckett added that defendant was under the influence of liquor at the time.

His Worship asked Second-Lieutenant Mackintosh, of the Seaforths, whom he had invited on the Bench, as to defendant's character, and was told he had been in the Army four years, had a good character and was a good soldier. He then bound defendant over in $50 for one year.

MYSTERY THRILLER

Few murder mystery melodramas have so intriguing a plot as the latest First National thriller, "The Case of the Velvet Claws," which kept audiences alternately laughing, hilariously or gripped in suspense, at the Majestic Theatre yesterday.

The picture is the most novel of all the productions made from the famous series of novels by Eric Stanley Gardner whose attorney-detective, Perry Mason, is known to every lover of fiction. And, for once, Perry Mason has a genuine romance, for he is married to his wisecracking secretary in the very first scene.

But it is a strange honeymoon, one that nearly drives the bride to the divorce courts, the bridegroom being kidnapped at the point of a gun and forced to take over a criminal case by a woman who has had a secret love affair and fears that her name is about to be dragged through the columns of a scandal sheet.

This is the fourth time that Warren William has played the part of the cool, analytical and debonaire Perry Mason.

KING'S TOUR OF CORNWALL

Picturesque Ceremony Of Presenting Feudal Dues

London, Dec. 1. The King's two-day tour of the Duchy of Cornwall began early this morning in heavy rain, after His Majesty had spent the night at Moreton Hampstead, overlooking Dartmoor.

At Princetown, 300 tenants filed, passed the King as their names were called.

From there the King drove in a closed car to Tavestock and then to Launceston, where he received feudal dues from tenants in the form of 100 shillings in a silver mug and one pound of pepper on a silver platter.

This was the first visit paid to the Duchy of Cornwall by His Majesty as King.

Little Damage Done

London, Dec. 1. A fire, which might have proved more serious but for its timely discovery, broke out on H.M.S. Elizabeth in Portsmouth dockyard today. It originated in the oil tank, where it is believed some oil waste caught alight. Members of the crew, after half an hour, succeeded in extinguishing the flames with buckets of water before any damage had been done.

WAR DECLARED: ON "IMMORAL" FILMS

War has been declared on "immoral" films by Cardinal Villeneuve, head of the Roman Catholic Church in Canada. He is trying to get people throughout the province of Quebec to enrol in a Catholic Cinema League which would boycott cinemas showing films regarded as objectionable.

At the close of many religious services, worshippers are being called on to subscribe to the following pledge: "I undertake to join the Catholic Cinema League. I will join forces with all who repudiate bad cinemas as being a danger for our youth, our families, our religion and our country. I will undertake from today not to enter a theatre where morals and Christianity are not scrupulously observed, and also to persuade as many others as possible to imitate me." The Cardinal wants this promise repeated each year. The plan to

CHINESE DANCE BAND

A really good all-Chinese Dance Band is a rare feature in Malaya, and Ipoh residents recently had the opportunity to hear and dance to one of the best amateur dance orchestras in Malaya—the Li Tek Seah Orchestra, of Penang.

This orchestra is well-known everywhere, and it has played in practically all big towns from Penang to Singapore at charitable functions.

The orchestra comprises 24 players, including a lady crooner (Miss Betty Karchang) whose voice comes out very well through the "mike."

The conductor of the band is Mr. J. A. Montano, a well-known musician in Penang.

JAPANESE ATTACK REPELLED

Tsinan, Dec. 2: An attack on Mullinchen in west Shantung by a Japanese combined force of 200 infantry-men and 100 cavalry-men was repelled by the Chinese defenders on November 30.

The Japanese retreated toward Linching, a point north, leaving a number of dead on the battlefield. — Central News.

SHANSI ARMY REORGANISED

Linfen, Dec. 2: The Shansi army has been re-organised under the supervision of General Yen Hsi-shan, Pacification Commissioner for Shansi and Suiyuan. New recruits have been placed in the various units to substitute those who were killed in action. — Central News.

YUYU RECAPTURED

Linfen, Dec. 2: According to a military report, Yuyu, an important town on the Shansi-Suiyuan border inside the Great Wall, was recaptured by a Chinese mobile unit on November 27.

The Japanese are said to have retreated to Liangcheng on the south Suiyuan border outside the Great Wall. — Central News.

CHINESE COUNTER-ATTACK SHIHMEN

Hangchow, Dec. 2: Chinese forces launched a counter-attack on Shihmen about 48 kilometres northeast of Hangchow yesterday morning. Being outnumbered the Japanese troops there are taking the defensive. — Central News.

REFUGEE RELIEF FUND

Nanking, Dec. 2: According to information from foreign circles, a campaign for raising $10,000,000 for relieving Chinese refugees has been started in Shanghai. — Central News.

SUBURBS OF CHUKI BOMBED

Kinshwa, Chekiang, Dec. 2: Two passengers were killed and three seriously injured yesterday morning when a Japanese bomber scored a direct hit on a junk in the Puyang River outside Chuki city on the Chekiang-Kiangsi Railway in Chekiang.

Two bombs were also dropped on the east bank of the river, killing five farmers, wounding three and destroying over 20 farm houses. — Central News.

BLOWN TO BITS

Linfen, Dec. 2: Seven Japanese trucks laden with military supplies together with the drivers and guards were blown to bits a few days ago when they struck upon the mine laid by Chinese troops on the highway between Yuanning and Kuoshien in north Shansi. — Central News.

KWANGTEH AND SSUANCHEN RECAPTURED

Nanking, Dec. 2: According to reports received here early this morning, Kwangteh, important town on the Anhwei border, was recaptured by the Chinese forces at 9.20 o'clock last night.

The reports state that the Chinese forces recovered Ssuanchen, about 25 kilometres east of Kwangteh, yesterday afternoon. With their rear cut off and with Chinese troops pressing toward the town from Shihchichu, a point about 20 kilometres west, the Japanese forces at Kwangteh were forced to withdraw. They set fire to many places inside the town before they did so. — Central News.

CHINESE WITHDRAWAL FROM CHANGCHOW REPORTED

Nanking, Dec. 2: Reports received here state that despite Japanese claim of capturing the town on November 29, the Chinese forces actually withdrew from Changchow yesterday morning.

It now transpires that a party of Japanese plain-clothes men did enter into the city by mixing themselves among the refugees in the evening of November 29 and created a panic among the populace by firing wildly under cover of night.

But as a result of the vigilance and tact of the Chinese garrison, they were all "mopped up" upon daybreak the following day.

Brisk fighting continued throughout the whole day on November 30. The Japanese kept on pounding the Chinese positions with their heavy artillery, gradually breaking down the Chinese defence works. Both sides suffered heavy casualties.

With part of the town lying in ruins and casualties mounting the Chinese garrison finally withdrew in the early hours yesterday morning. — Central News.

STURBORN DEFENCE IN KWANGTEH

Having drawn up their new line, which virtually forms the last important stronghold to the east of Nanking, the Chinese troops in Kiangsu, Chekiang and Anhwei Provinces are continuing their attempt to consolidate their positions to face the fierce Japanese aerial, artillery and infantry assaults.

Meanwhile, the meagre Chinese reports available in Shanghai contradict the startling Japanese claims to successes. While admitting that Changchow and Hing have fallen, Chinese sources state that the rapid advance from these two cities, claimed by the Japanese, appears to be of an "anticipatory" nature. They deny the capture of Kwangteh, and declare that the highway between Changshin and Kwangteh is well barricaded with many bridges blown up.

In view of the stubborn defence in Kwangteh, Japanese troops are reported to have gathered a fleet of steam launches in Wangpu village, to the east of the city, with apparent intention of breaking through the Chientien position and reach Langkai, to the north-east of Kwangteh. — Reuter.

BITTER FIGHTING SEEN

Hankow, Dec. 2: Bitter fighting is expected in the vicinity of Nanking when the Japanese forces come within striking distance of the capital.

In an attempt to prevent a part of the Japanese army reaching Wuhu—an operation which, if successful, isolates Nanking—the Chinese have blown up bridges between Kwangteh and Wuhu and have rendered the highways impassable for mechanised units.

The Chinese have also erected a series of booms across the Yangtze River between Wuhu and Chinkiang.

Despite reports to the contrary, Marshal Chiang Kai-shek is still in Nanking, from where he talked, by telephone with high officials in Hankow yesterday. — Reuter.

JAPANESE SALVAGERS WORK ON NANTAO BOOM

Shanghai, Dec. 2: A Japanese salvage firm has started work demolishing the Nantao boom.

Japanese divers conducted observations yesterday after which a depth charge was fired. — Reuter.

RECOGNITION?

Belgrade, Dec. 1: Reports that the Yugo-Slavia Government has recognised General Franco's Government are denied here, but it is admitted that negotiations are proceeding to establish a commercial representative in Nationalist Spain. — Reuter.

"COMFORT" CORPS TO FRONT

Canton, Dec. 2: A "comfort" corps, organised by various public groups in Canton, is leaving here on Dec. 5 for the north where they will distribute gifts and other articles to the Chinese troops at the front. The party has already received $10,000 cash contributions. — Central News.

AIR DEFENCES STRENGTHENED

Changsha, Dec. 2: General Chang Chin-chung, governor of Hunan, has ordered the strengthening of the air defence works throughout the province. Special bomb-proof dug-outs for civilians will be constructed in the important parts of Changsha.

An investigation is being made into the exact extent of the damages caused by Japanese air raids in Hunan during recent months. — Central News.

JAPANESE WARSHIPS OFF LIENYUNKANG

Hsuechow, Dec. 2: Nine Japanese warships, including one aircraft carrier from Tsingtao, are now concentrated off Lienyunkang Harbour on the north Kiangsu coast.

Chinese, military headquarters announce that their coastal defence works have been strengthened and will prevent the Japanese marines from landing.

As the harbour has been closed and surrounding area frozen as a result of the cold weather the vessels are remaining quite a distance from the shore. — Central News.

VITAL SHANGHAI PROBLEMS

Eden Defines British Attitude On Customs Control

London, Dec. 1. Replying to a Commons question on the present position regarding the Chinese Customs Service at Ssuangai, the Foreign Secretary, Mr. Anthony Eden, said that during the course of last week publicity had been given to a number of utterances attributed to the Japanese authorities in Shanghai which had appeared to His Majesty's Government to constitute a serious threat to the proper functioning of the Chinese Maritime Customs and service of foreign loans secured on Customs revenues.

The Government had accordingly entered into consultations on the subject with the United States and French Governments.

His Majesty's Government had reminded the Japanese Government that the Chinese Maritime Customs had at all times been an international interest and that they expected to be fully consulted before any arrangements are reached for carrying on the Customs services during present hostilities.

LOCAL DISCUSSIONS

Similar representations had been made by the United States and French Governments. Discussions, Mr. Eden said, were still proceeding.

The discussions referred to by Mr. Eden are, it is understood, proceeding in Shanghai between British and other Powers concerned, including the United States and France on one hand and Japanese authorities on other, in the light of assurances which had been given in Tokyo that due consideration will be accorded to the requirements of the various Powers before any provisional arrangement is made between the Japanese authorities in Shanghai and officials of the Customs Administration.

MILITARY CONTROL

Asked to make a statement on the Japanese Prime Minister's declaration about the possibility of Japan taking military control in Shanghai, the Foreign Secretary replied that he had seen a report of what was alleged to have been said to a journalist, and while he would deprecate any exaggerated deductions on this statement he said the Government could not, of course, recognise the right of any of the Settlement Powers to take unilateral action for the solution of problems arising from the administration of the Settlement. — British Wireless.

FIRE IN GUNPOWDER FACTORY

Explosion Occurs After Ignition Of Cordite Stove

London, Dec. 1. The War Office announced tonight that ignition occurred this afternoon in a cordite stove at the Royal Gunpowder Factory at Waltham Abbey, which quickly developed into an explosion that shattered the building. Precautionary measures adopted, however, prevented communication of the resulting fire to surrounding buildings, and the fire was got under control by the factory fire brigade in a very short time. There was no loss of life and no one was injured. Employment will not be interfered with. — British Wireless.

CANTON AIR RAID

Canton, Dec. 2. The air raid alarm was sounded at 3.50 a.m., and the noise of bombs and anti-aircraft guns was distinctly audible at Reuter's office.

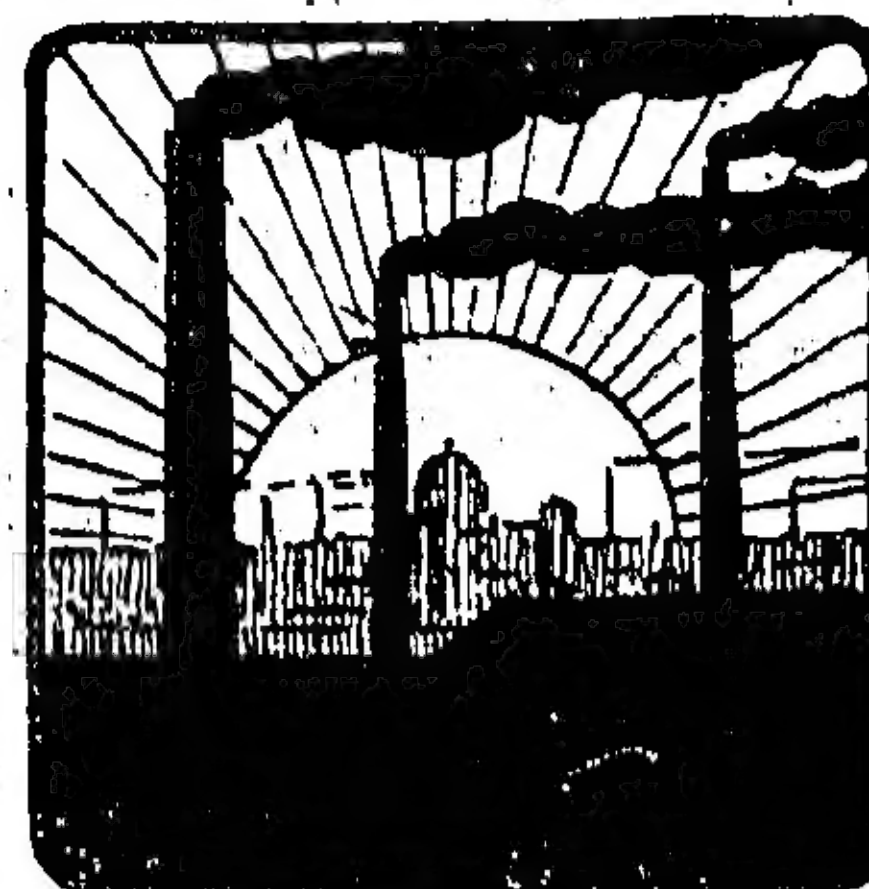

A number of Japanese planes, flying exceptionally high, dropped about ten bombs in the vicinity of the air field to the north of the city. Reuter adds at 9.30 a.m.

A foreigner from Tungshan telephoned Reuter's correspondent that he clearly heard "machines" power-diving and then bomb explosions, but he did not see actual machines. He added that in the country near the air-field a huge fire was raging at present.

Anti-aircraft guns went into action and the bursting of their shells high in the sky was visible from Shameen. — Reuter.

London, Dec. 1. From the same spot near Plymouth where Drake started his historic voyage round the world exactly 360 years ago, there will leave to-morrow morning a squadron of five R.A.F. flying boats for the longest formation flight ever undertaken.

Before returning next May the flying boats will cover over 30,000 miles via Malta, Egypt, India, Malaya to Sydney to represent the Royal Air Force at the 150th anniversary of New South Wales in January, after which they will circumnavigate Australia.

Compared with Drake's three years' voyage of 35,000 miles, the squadron's actual flying time will, it is estimated, be 400 hours. — Reuter.

CATHEDRAL BAZAAR

All The Fun Of The Fair

The St. John's Cathedral compound yesterday was the scene of a bazaar, organised by the Women's Guild in aid of the assistant clergy fund. The bazaar was opened by Mrs. N. L. Smith, wife of the Colonial Secretary.

Besides such novelties as beautifully knitted goods, clothes, toys, and baskets, there were ample places for enjoyment such as the "art gallery" and "twinkling stars." Cakes, jams and tea were also on sale. Most of the things exhibited were home-made, much credit being due to the Women's Guild and Mother's Union.

Amongst those present were Mrs. N. L. Smith, Lady Pollock, Mrs. A. W. Bartholomew, Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Higgs, Rev. D. Rosenthal, and Rev. H. W. Baines.

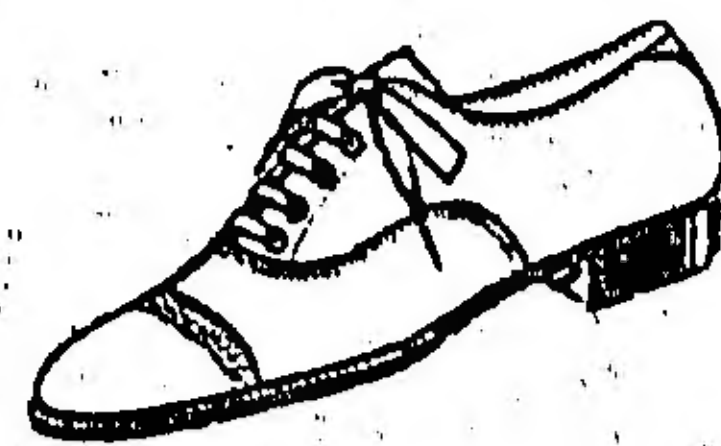

Mr. Baines, in the course of his address, said that words could not express his gratitude to all those who helped to make the sale a success, the reason for which the staff of which had to thank the community for their magnificent and whole-hearted support.

He then appealed for an assistant clergy's fund and thanked the Council of the Cathedral and the Women's Guild for their co-operation in organising the sale.

The speaker said that the sale should have been on a much larger scale, but on account of the conditions now prevailing, they were forced to be satisfied with yesterday's Garden Fete.

After expressing his thanks once again, the speaker paid a tribute to Mrs. N. L. Smith for her presence and consent to open the sale of work.

Before declaring the sale opened, Mrs. Smith said that she would also offending the British Dominions and public opinion to the extent of endangering the stability of the British Government.

After Mrs. Smith had declared the sale opened, little Miss Pauline Owen-Hughes presented her with a bouquet of African daisies.

A glance at the Japanese press review of the last six years reveals the unanimous opinion that the day of the British Empire is over—an opinion reached solely on the basis of a British willingness to see the Japanese point of view, often to the detriment of Great Britain's own interests. And to allege that British policy has been engaged in driving in a wedge between China and Japan, and in obstructing Japanese policy in every possible way, is not merely unjust but grossly malicious.

The Shiunso's charges against British economic policy are no better founded. It is true that quotas and tariffs are serious obstacles to Japanese trade as they are to all other countries, but it is also true that the British Empire is Japan's best customer. Osaka's proudest boast is that Japan sells more textiles than Lancashire and the biggest market is a British possession! The United Kingdom has a preference in British territories, but what sort of preference has Japan in her colonial empire and in Manchukuo? As for the accusation that the British Government refuses to open to Japan the natural resources of her Empire, that is so absurd as to be barely worth refuting. Since when has Australia refused to sell Japan wool? Had not India to threaten curtailing piece-goods purchases in order to persuade Japan to purchase more Indian cotton?

Then "The Shiunso" makes considerable play of a naval grievance. British pressure was brought to bear on Japan to restrict their fleet to a 5-5-3 ratio. Before the Great War the British Navy was Mistress of the Seas with 80 battleships. At Washington Britain accepted the restriction to 15. Before the War Japan had seven battleships. The Washington Treaty agreed to give her nine, so that it is quite absurd to charge Britain with forcing disarmament on others, and refusing to disarm herself.

SAVING FACE

Although the word is not a new one, the Chinese have added to the richness of the English language by giving an added meaning and a new use to the word "face." In its new, Sino-logical meaning, it was for a century or more purely a China Coast word, unknown except on the Western shores of the Pacific, but in 1934 it was formally adopted and legalised by the editors of the Oxford Dictionary, who define:

lose face, be humiliated.
save person's face, spare him from open shame.

These brief definitions give but little hint of the very important part that face plays in all affairs of life in China. It embodies a code of human relationships which enjoins on everyone the obligation, in all circumstances, to help his fellow-man to maintain his self-respect and to hold up his head in pride. In a way, it is a code of toleration and forbearance which enables Chinese to live together under crowded and highly competitive conditions with a minimum of friction. A man's misfortunes, or the results of his foolish acts, are not held up to derision, because that would make him lose face. In this way enmities are avoided. If one comes out the loser in a business deal, the victor does not push his advantage to the ultimate, but grants the unfortunate one some little concession so as to remove the sting of humiliation from his defeat. It is at the same time a mental stimulus and a moral bulwark for the individual, as everyone more or less instinctively tries to avoid any act, or any course of conduct, which might cause him to lose face, that is, to be openly shamed, or humiliated. On ethical grounds it is, of course, open to the charge of insincerity for, in great measure, the loss of face lies, not in the shamefulness of one's conduct, but in the misfortune of exposure. No one in China is too lowly to treasure and guard his face; that is, his dignity and self-respect. And no foreign resident has ever accomplished anything in dealing with Chinese if he failed to take this factor into account.

CHINESE ART EXHIBITION Rare Collection At University

When Mr. Ma, President of the University Chinese Society, in his speech of welcome to His Excellency the Governor at the opening of the Chinese Art Exhibition in the Fung Ping Shan Library in Pokfulam Road, claimed that it was unique, he was making no vain boast. "Distance lends enchantment to the view" and it may be difficult to realise that under our very noses we have a collection which, though in size it cannot compare with that held last year at Burlington House, can in many instances hold its own in quality. We should all be truly grateful to the collectors who have so generously lent and to Professor Hsu Ti Shan and the University Chinese Society who have worked so hard to make it a success.

Here is a description of some of the exhibits: The Bronzes and Porcelains are on the first floor. In Room I there are two very interesting Chou dynasty specimens; one, a meat-container with handles in the shape of the Kwei dragon, the other a tripod with a stylised design of phoenixes and serpents on it, so arranged as to form the heads of three tautis or harpies. In Room II there is a splendid large vase with a design of dragons on it.

After looking at these bronzes and then turning to the porcelain one is struck by the way in which the younger material is made to do the work of the older. This is particularly noticeable with regard to the Sung dynasty wares. In the same case, as the first two bronzes referred to, you have a beautiful piece of white Fukien ware with a very simple design of three lines and two animal heads for handles, almost exactly in the elder bronze style. This is again noticeable in the pale azure Ting ware below it and in a midnight blue China vase of the opposite side of the room. There are specimens in other designs from the Han dynasty to the middle of the Ching. Among these are two lovely lotus-shaped bowls (one Tang and one 5 dynasties) in the secret colour especially reserved for Imperial use; a Tang dynasty Yueh Chou ware vase in three colours, vivid and brighter than those used in any of the other periods; a truly wonderful Chuan ware dish in red, purple and lavender colourings for growing new year daffodils; one exquisite Lin Chuan (Yuan dynasty) miniature vase with a dragon-in-the-clouds pattern around it; an unusual six-folled Kwangtung ware bowl; a white Chao Chou ware urn; a white "iron-mouthed" Fukien ware bowl with a faint design of mandarin ducks among orchids on the inside; a Kung Chuan libation cup and several specimens of the Kuan or official porcelain, among which a peach-shaped brush-washer stands out; and a Buddha in gold with blue hair of the Chien Lung period.

Such is a brief description of the exhibits, selected almost at random. It is up to us to take advantage of this week and see all we can; because, to echo Mr. Sloss, the Vice-Chancellor's words at the opening of the Young West may learn something of the wisdom and serenity of the older East from it. It is the opposite of western art in this—the human body is never allowed to predominate over nature—we are kept in our proper place. Then there is a depth of meaning hidden away in these flowers and birds, mists and stretches of water, as all are symbols whose import we, not being brought up to know them, cannot readily grasp. That his spirit harmonise with the rhythm of the cosmos is, the first law of the Chinese painter and hence no doubt the spiritual atmosphere of the whole.

Here is no conflict between craftsmanship and nature, symbols and art—the doctrine of the mean has blended them all. "If to have no method is bad, to be the slave of method is worse. One must first of all follow a rigid law; then penetrate intelligently all the possible transformations. The end of all methods is to be able to do without any, but if one wishes to do without any, one must certainly have had some first; if one desires easiness, one must look for it in difficulty."

Next to this in room III are two Ming dynasty pictures by Shen Chou, also landscapes; one a river setting, very effective for its economy of brushwork, the other a mountain scene, refreshingly green. In the same room also a more domestic atmosphere is obtained in a nameless picture of some women in a blue-roofed house, a very delicate work. There are also some Yuan dynasty pictures both landscapes; one by the Taoist Fong Hu, of some strange seaboard and the other a wintry landscape which has a counterpart almost as good in Room II below it. Other exquisite Yuan pictures are in the "bird and flower" category, one being of some pomegranates and orchids, and another (in Room IV) of a white goose among hollyhocks. The 15th Room also contains perhaps the best exhibit in this section of all—a scroll by the hand of Pa Ta Shan Jen and a picture, also by him; he has a third work in the first room below—all of them worthy to be shown anywhere.

EXCELLENT SNOW-PIECE
There is also an excellent snow-piece by Kuo Hsi of the Sung dynasty. Ming pictures include one of a cock and some peonies and, in the room below, of birds on a branch in the snow—almost the most memorable piece in all four rooms—by Lu Chi; some lotuses by Luh Pao Shan, and some carnations by Chou Shih Cook and several very simple but admirably decorative bamboos, one by Hsiao Cheng Chao. There is also a magnificent landscape by Wu Lih, one of China's earliest Catholics. The Ching dynasty is very well represented on the first floor particularly in the second room. Upstairs it has a charming green parrot amongst some red peonies and others. But it is impossible to describe each in detail and those who are interested will go and look for themselves.

Besides this, there are albums on the tables of each room, which in some ways seem to contain what is best of all. But the standard of the exhibition is so high that whatever one is looking at seems best. Nor should one forget the fifth room, with its interesting collection of inkblasts and a human examination paper on the Confucian Classics from the end of the 17th century.

PHILIPPINE REVIEW

Taxes, Open And Covered

The unfair or objectionable features of the cedula tax which President Quezon in a press conference pointed out as supporting the proposal to abolish the tax are minor. The number of tax payers and the sum of money collected by virtue of the objectionable features are relatively small, which fact suggests a remedy through amendment, rather than throwing over the whole tax and the cedula system of identification merely because of the minor features which can be changed readily, says the "Manila Bulletin."

There is much to the President's contention that it is unfair to tax an 18-year-old youth as a full fledged citizen and then treat him in other respects still as an immature minor. However, the simplest remedy to that injustice is to change the taxable age, making the lower age limit 21 instead of 18.

The contention that it is unfair to tax, even in the small sum of the cedula tax, those who are unemployed and consequently without any funds to pay the levy, involves more complicated problems. It is a truth no one can deny that it is both unfair and useless to tax any person more than that person can pay.

Out of consideration of this fact many governments follow the practical policy of allowing those who cannot pay in money to work out their taxes, in other words to pay in labour. The emphasis which President Quezon places on unemployment as an argument against the tax strongly suggests consideration of locally adopting the plan of optional payment by work. It is more than probable that some of those inclined to claim inability to pay in money would find the cash with which to pay if they were given the privilege to pay either in money or labour. Certainly that plan would steer the government away from placing a price on unemployment and on pauperism.

Optional Work Plan

An added factor of advantage connected with the plan of optional work or cash as payment is that the identification feature still would be retained, because the records for payment through service should be just as complete and comprehensive as the records of cash payments. In fact the work records would serve in a measure as an unemployment census, which recently has been extensively discussed as one of the current and urgent needs, for intelligent planning in connection with labour problems.

It is thoroughly true, as President Quezon points out, that everyone has to pay indirect taxes, such as the sales tax and the import taxes. Since that is true, objectionable features cited as damning the cedula tax would have to be held up as indictments against the indirect taxes. The 18-year-old lad, if he be self supporting or a full or part supporter of a family, pays the sales tax which is covered in the price of everything he buys for himself or those dependent upon him. In so far as the sales tax is thrown back against the producer, as in the case of some export products, the 18-year-old and the under-taxed in the fields pay the covered-up tax, although it be without their knowledge.

Difficult To Maintain

Admittedly it would be extremely difficult, in fact quite impossible, to maintain two channels of commerce, one for those able to pay the taxes and those not able. Hence the plan of collecting from everybody, including those who might claim inability to pay if they really knew what they were paying.

This factor of collecting the invisible or indirect taxes and eliminating the direct or visible taxes on the theory that specified classes are unable to pay should be considered from several angles. Is it a good plan, does it contribute to a universal understanding of the fact that everybody has a duty toward the government and a responsibility to pay in proportion to his ability to pay, when the masses are given the impression that they are granted a special concession in the form of tax exemption? In other words is it fair and ultimately practical to advertise tax-exemption while at the same time collecting indirect or under-cover taxes? Does that build a general appreciation of the fact that government responsibilities, like government protection and privileges, are for all, rich and poor, for everybody in the measure of his ability to meet the public duties which attach to citizenship?

These are some of the questions to be faced by those having the responsibility of devising the most equitable and the most beneficial tax system.

MOTORISTS

The attention of motorists is drawn to Regulation No. 5.

It should be explained that in time of war the restrictions embodied in the Temporary Regulations below would be in force continuously and they represent what is known as a "precautionary black-out." On warning being given of an imminent air attack, however, it may be necessary, if the "Precautionary Black-out" does not give sufficient concealment, to resort to more drastic restrictions and to enforce a "Complete Black-out" by cutting off all light and power at source until the "all clear" signal is given. A trial of the latter restrictions may be carried out in the Colony at a later date, but it is hoped with the co-operation of the public and by practice and experiment to achieve a degree of concealment during the "Precautionary Black-out" which will make the "Complete Black-out" unnecessary.

"LITTLE INTERFERENCE"

The public should bear in mind that the "precautionary black-out" which will be tested on December 9 involves very little interference with normal activities. Buses, trams and ferries will continue to run as usual, although, on account of the lighting restrictions, the speed of all vehicular traffic, both public and private, must be reduced in the interests of safety. Theatres, cinemas and other places of entertainment may remain open as usual provided that the lighting restrictions are observed. Managers of theatres and cinemas would be well advised to ensure that they have means of lighting their entrance lobbies in

Meeting On December 4:
Forthcoming Bazaar

A meeting of members of the Hong Kong Chinese Women's Soldiers' Relief Association will be held on Saturday, December 4, at 3.30 p.m. in the Chinese Merchants Club, China Building, fifth floor. Members will find this an opportunity to meet all the other members who number now about 2,000.

The meeting will hear a report on all the work done and will make plans for the forthcoming bazaar to be held on December 11 and 12. Will members prepare and contribute gifts for the bazaar to help to make it an unqualified success?

such a way as to avoid confusion without at the same time infringing the restrictions as to the visibility of lights from outside.

AIRCRAFT OVER COLONY

Aircraft will be flying over the Colony during the period of the "black-out" for the purpose of observing the effect. Exercises with anti-aircraft search lights will also be carried out during the second hour of the "black-out" period, and in the course of these exercises targets on land may be illuminated by the search lights. The public is warned against mistaking the illumination of objects by the search lights for an indication that the "black-out" has terminated.

Tests of alarm signals and of "all clear" signals will be carried out at the commencement and at the termination of the black-out respectively, but the hours specified in Temporary Regulation No. 1 should be strictly observed irrespective of whether the alarm signals are actually heard. The nature of the alarm and "all clear" signals will be announced later.

IDZUMO UNDER FIRE AGAIN

Chinese Planes Over Whangpoo

Shanghai, Dec. 2. Staging the first air raid in Shanghai since the Chinese forces withdrew from Chapel on October 27, two Chinese planes appeared over Whangpoo at noon and tried to blow up the Japanese flagpole Idzumo. A single bomb was dropped which landed in midstream near the spot where the Idzumo, which is now alongside the Japanese Consulate, was moored during the hostilities. The planes flew at an altitude of ten thousand feet and the press and public knew nothing about the visit until the disclosure was made at the Japanese press conference. Before appearing over Shanghai the planes bombed Japanese warships at Woon-sung.

A Japanese Navy spokesman announced that six Japanese planes raided Nanking to-day and were engaged by more than thirty Soviet built Chinese planes of which he claimed that thirteen were shot down. All Japanese planes returned to the base safely.—Reuter.

C.K.R. LINE IS NOT DAMAGED

Canton, Dec. 2. A Reuter's correspondent motorized to the loopline at noon to-day and saw two bomb-holes, the result of this morning's raid, one of which was about 16 feet deep and 30 feet wide in the soft soil a few yards from the actual railway line which, however, was not damaged. A Red Cross Car is standing by but it is believed that no casualties occurred in this area which is more or less open country.

No bombs appeared to have been dropped in the city itself although Chinese sources report that Honan was again bombed. Several other bombs fell in the countryside between the Sun Yat-sen University and the Yintang Military Academy to the north of Canton.

Two Japanese planes visited the Canton-Kowloon Railway again this afternoon and dropped four bombs between the kilometres 115 and 118. Damage was practically nil and railway traffic has not been affected. No alarm was sounded in Canton.—Reuter.

C.K.R. LOOPLINE ATTACKED

Canton, Dec. 2. It is now learned that eight Japanese planes participated in this morning's raid.

The planes dropped four bombs on the Canton-Kowloon Railway between kilometre 112 and 114, without, however, damaging the line.

They also visited Canton city and it is believed the objective was the loopline connecting the Canton-Kowloon Railway with the Hankow line.

This is situated close to the airfield near where bombs fell. It is understood the raiders later continued their way up the Canton-Hankow line.—Reuter.

JAPANESE STAGING VICTORY PARADE THROUGH S'HAU SETTLEMENT

BRITISH, U.S. ARMY LEADERS AND MUNICIPAL COUNCIL PROTEST

SIX BATTALIONS, EIGHT THOUSAND MEN

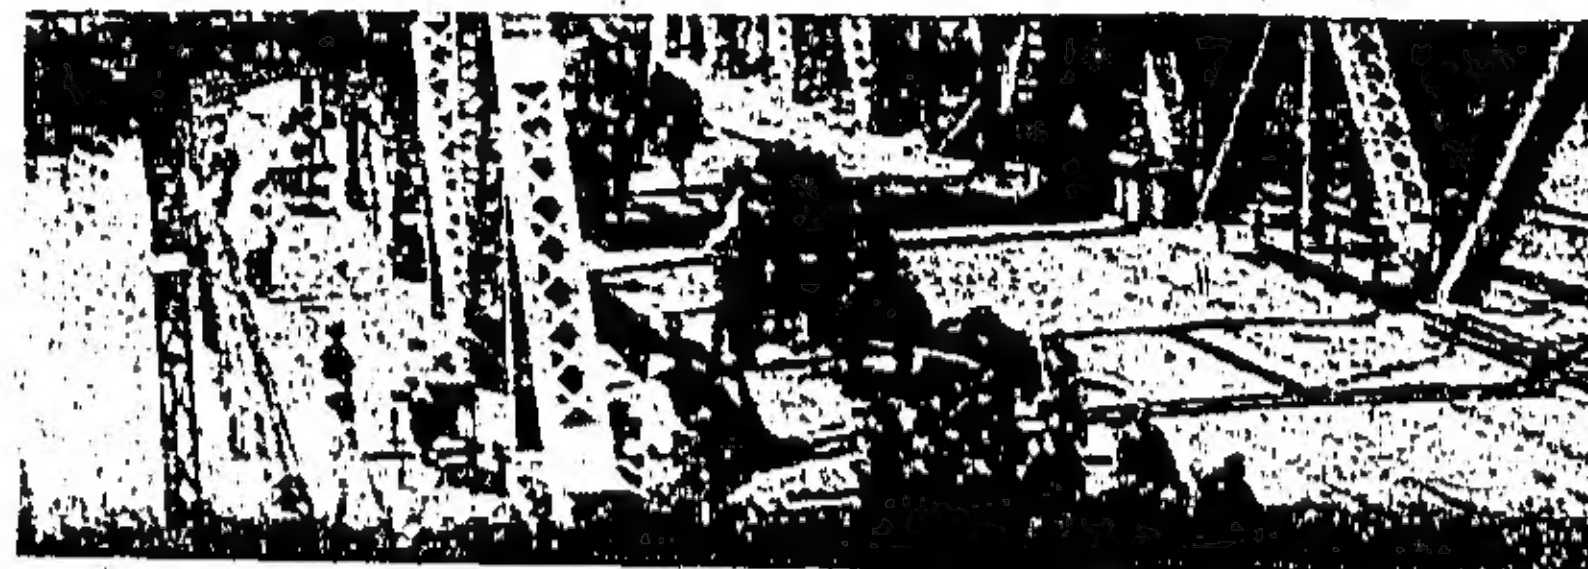

Shanghai, December 2: The Japanese Army is staging a victory parade to-morrow through the International Settlement. With flags flying, six battalions of Japanese troops, consisting of 8,000 men, will march with batteries through the principal streets in the Settlement, including Bubbling Well Road, Nanking Road, the Bund, Avenue Edward VII and Avenue Foch. The battalions will enter Extra Settlement Road through the western defence line manned by British troops. The parade which will start at 11 a.m. will last for two and a half hours.

The battalions will not enter the French Concession and when they travel along boundary roads such as Avenue Edward VII they will keep to the Settlement side even though this entails going against the traffic.

The police are taking the utmost precautions against disorder as it is feared that a single shot or bomb from misguided Chinese patriots will create a most serious incident.

Reuter learns that the Shanghai Municipal Council, which is the governing body in the International Settlement, has sent a written protest to the Japanese authorities against to-morrow's parade which they say is most inadvisable at the present juncture.

It is learned that Major-General A.P.D. Telfer-Smollett, General Officer Commanding British troops in the Shanghai area, and Brigadier-General J. C. Beaumont, commanding the 2nd United States Marine Brigade, have also protested.

The Garden Bridge

ed to the Japanese authorities against to-morrow's parade. It was their second protest lodged.

The first was on November 29 together with Colonel Andreini, commanding the Savoy Grenadiers, who has not associated himself with to-day's protest, which was made after formal notification of the Japanese Army's intention to hold parade.

It transpires that the route will be along Brenan Road, Yu Yuen Road, Avenue Foch, Thibet Road, Nanking Road and the Bund from where the Japanese troops will cross into Hongkew over the Garden Bridge. The distance of the march is six miles.—Reuter.

PARADE IN FRENCH CONCESSION

Shanghai, Dec. 2: It is semi-officially announced that the Japanese will hold a second parade on December 4 when they will pass through the French Concession. They will start from Hongkew and march along the Bund, French Bund to Nantao.—Reuter.

HUGE FIRES RAVAGING NANTAO BUND

Shanghai, Dec. 2. Colossal new fires are devouring the Nantao Bund, close to the French Concession, and columns of smoke rising to the sky are visible in the whole of Shanghai. The fires are believed to be consuming Chinese wharves and godowns along the riverside.

The French fire brigade is standing by in order to prevent the flames spreading to the French Bund.—Reuter.

CHAMBERLAIN SILENT

Will Not Reveal Subject Of Halifax Talks

London, Dec. 1. The Prime Minister declined to be drawn further regarding the subject matter of Lord Halifax's conversation with German statesmen when he was closely questioned in the House of Commons. He referred his questioners to the statement he made a week ago. The Foreign Secretary also had nothing to add to previous statements when he rose to reply to two long questions by Mr. G. C. Mander (Liberal) on colonies.—British Wireless.

CHINESE THREATENING PINGYUAN

Hsuehchow, Dec. 2: With the capture of six important districts on the left flank north of the Yellow River, the Chinese forces and mobile units are now threatening to march on to Pingyuan and Tschow, two strategic towns in northern Shantung on the Tientsin-Pukow Railway according to reports from the front.

The main body of Japanese troops massed along the Yellow River last month are withdrawing hurriedly to Pingyuan to reinforce the local garrison there.

The positions of the Chinese and Japanese forces on the right flank remain unchanged.

It is reported that the Chinese are closing in on the Japanese garrison at Tamingtu.

Meanwhile, various mobile units are co-ordinating their activities with the main body of Chinese troops now operating in Shantung.—Central News.

SUPPORT FOR PROTEST AGAINST ITALY

The following message, according to the Central News Agency, has been sent to General Liu Wen-tao, Chinese Ambassador in Rome:—

We Educational and Cultural Workers throughout China wholeheartedly support your protest against the recognition of the puppet State organised under Japanese bayonets, by the Italian Government. By this act Italy stands committed to the principle of the partition of China, has herself violated the Nine Power Treaty, and has declared herself the ally of Japan, the deathless enemy of the Chinese People.

By all the means at our disposal we will awaken our people to the dangers presented by a country that herself is a condemned aggressor. The Federation of Chinese Cultural Associations.

Spanish Government Favours Plan

London, Dec. 1. The Spanish Government's reply to the Non-Intervention Committee's enquiry regarding the withdrawal of foreign troops and the despatch of an International Commission, to Spain has been received by the Foreign Office.

It is learned in Spanish circles that the Spanish government adopts the position as favourable for the withdrawal of non-Spanish nationals, and is also disposed to accept the sending of the Commission but requires elucidation on certain points in the proposals.—Reuter.

ROYAL TOURS CONCLUDE

CROWDS CHEER THE KING IN HEAVY RAIN

London, Dec. 2. Rain was falling heavily when the King began the second part of his tour of the Duchy of Cornwall estates in the west of England this morning. The night was spent in the Royal train at Comberne and early this morning it proceeded to Taunton where the Lord Lieutenant of Somerset and the Mayor of the town welcomed His Majesty. Before joining a motor car to drive to the first of several farms to be visited, the King inspected the local branch of the British Legion in the station yard. Despite the rain, large crowds lined the streets and warmly cheered His Majesty as he drove slowly through the town. The tour ends this afternoon when the Royal train will bring the King back to London.

There were many homely incidents during the Duke of Kent's tour of social service centres in the west of Scotland yesterday including the acceptance of gifts from the Duke's children from the children of Dumbarton. The tour is being concluded to-day. It is stated the King and Queen of Denmark will come to London next week for a private visit. They are expected to stay in London for about ten or twelve days.—British Wireless Service.

HOPE OF ARMY PROMOTION SPEED-UP

Younger Men For High Commands

CONGESTION SINCE THE WAR

There are strong rumours that Mr. Hore-Belisha, the Secretary for War, is contemplating measures to deal with the present stagnation in promotion in the Army and to reduce the age at which generals may expect to receive appointments to important commands, writes Major-Gen. A. C. Temperley, "Rally Telegraph and Morning Post" Military Correspondent.

fact that the average age in the most important appointments is years older than it was before the war, though, the strain will obviously be greater in the future than it ever was before. No one can be satisfied with this state of affairs.

Yet the remedy is by no means simple. There is no rule of thumb to establish as a principle the exact age at which the right combination of boldness and caution is blended. It depends on the individual. The bias must, however, be on the side of the younger man, though experience has its value.

LOWERING AGE-LIMITS
A mere ruthless "axe-ing" of all generals over a certain age will achieve nothing except a temporary run of promotion, followed by a further slump. If age limits can be gradually lowered all round and a chance be given to promising officers of reaching the colonels' list more rapidly, the foundations will be laid for a rejuvenation all through.

There is nothing new in these problems. They occur in all armies after great upheavals such as the war. As in trade cycles, a period of a rush in promotion is followed by a slump; expansion is succeeded by contraction.

It is the task of those responsible for Army policy to avoid this "concertina" movement by judicious foresight and planning. In the early post-war years we saw officers who had won distinction in the war dropping back several grades, and there were war-time brigadiers commanding companies. In the Higher Command there were generals with great reputations who filled all the important appointments.

COLONELS HELD BACK
Unfortunately they appeared to be considered indispensable, and, at the end of the period of command, there was merely a reshuffle instead of the introduction of new blood. There was an insufficient pruning of the colonels' list, where for a long time three out of every four in the promotion zone became major-generals. When it was at last realised that the passage through the list was taking 12 or 13 years instead of seven or eight, there was a violent reaction, and the average promotion became one out of six for a time.

Thus a large number of able officers were hopelessly blocked for promotion, and then suddenly scrapped—a classic instance of the "concertina" process. We are now confronted by the

AULD REEKIE HANDICAP

Lady Northcote, who recently acquired Gladiolus, has an excellent chance of leading in her first winner in the Colony as this bay, formerly from the Sassoon stable, is in fine condition and should account for the opposition in this six furlong sprint, especially so as Happy Eye is being rested and will not accept. Incidentally, Mr. "Peanut" Marshall who rode this latter pony when she recently won The St. Leger will not be riding at this meeting, having returned to Shadghal in the interim. Oak Bay will probably account for Soldier of Britain in their tussle for the second place.

ST. ANDREW'S STAKES

There is every probability of all the entrants accepting in this 1 1/2 miles classic of the day. This event will be one of the most evenly contested races of the day as at least half of the starters are strongly fancied by their respective stable connections. Dawn Star has undergone special preparation and will be very near at the finish. This grey will have a change of jockey, as I understand Mr. Donald Black will be in the saddle. Honeymoon Eve will be carrying top weight but this should not stop this dun-mare as she is right up to form and will battle out every foot of the way. King's Lead and New Star are both nicely weighted and should not be neglected. Ross Queen did a good gallop last week and will carry her full share of the betting. The outsider in this event is Red Feather with Mr. S.W. Tank up in view of the excellent training gallop on Wednesday morning.

SAUGHTON HANDICAP

The inclusion of Strathroy in this "A" Class Australian race over one mile, in order to obtain the requisite number of starters to qualify for the Autumn Champions, will result in this brown being backed down to a red hot favourite in an otherwise interesting and evenly matched field. Gypsy Love will not be starting and this decision consequently narrows down the possible winner to Strathroy, Lancashire Chips and Able Amazon. This will be the probable order at the finish. Both Ranger and Home Brew did extraordinarily well in their training gallops last Wednesday morning and may snatch a place. However, in view of the former pony's bad habits at the gate and my belief that Home Brew may find the pace just a little too trying I would recommend Blandford as the best outsider to follow. This entry from the Eu Tong Sen stable is well known as possessing a strong Jack quarter and after finishing behind Double Finesse in a sprint race at the last meeting in fairly fast time, clearly demonstrated that speed is another asset. Electron will try to make amends for the last performance but will find it a difficult task.

DUMBIEDYKES HANDICAP—FIRST SECTION

This sprint event for "D" Class ponies over approximately five furlongs is the First Leg of the Daily Double, and on present form should be won by Laughing Girl. This grey has done consistently well in training and is an excellent starter. The opposition will be furnished by Sylvandale with Mr. Proulx up; a combination that will be well in the picture in view of this jockey's ability in getting away quickly at the gate, the importance of which must not be overlooked in sprint races. Gold Coin and Plain View are also dangerous, though I am inclined to believe that the latter would do much better over a longer distance. Ythan at 146 lbs is the most likely one, excluding the favourites, to spring a surprise, with Firefly as the next best.

MURRAYFIELD HANDICAP

On paper and judging by past records, Australian Boy and Sancy Face should fight out the issue between them in this race for "B" Class Australian ponies. Aztec and Kalfinka are the top weights but I believe the latter will stay the distance better. Bag Tor appears to be in better form than when last raced but still seems to be lacking a finish and I, therefore, believe not yet fully ready. Snowy River is well in as regards weight and may cause an upset. The race will be run in quite fast time as both Aztec and Derby Day will take some holding over the first half mile.

DUNNAPPLE HANDICAP

A field consisting of sibs of this season that have won less than $2,000 in stakes will line up for this sprint event of approximately five furlongs. Whalsey is about the best in this class and should win handsly despite top weight. National Anthem will be worth following as this bay is quite useful over short distance. Tabby Cat will need a strong jockey to keep him up with the field at the start, before this dun from the Lan stable can be near at the finish. Araxy, Atomic Star and Yum Sing are also sprinters and should not be neglected. Tempest is definitely slow to get into stride and unless lucky enough to get off extremely well at the barrier will finish up amongst the "also rans." This event is the second leg of the Daily Double.

LOCAL CRICKET

A. W. Hayward (Capt.), F. H. Stokes, L. D. Kilbee, M. F. L. Haymes, R. L. Holden, H. W. Baines, F. Baker, R. E. H. Nelson, J. B. H. Leckie, R. L. D. Wodehouse, D. McLellan.

DUMBIEDYKES HANDICAP—SECOND SECTION

The final race of the day is another "D" Class sprint in which I favour the heavily weighted ponies, Coronation Day and Valorous, as both are very fit at the moment. Good Morning is also a good sprinter and with Racing Boy are good bets especially if they draw favourable positions at the starting gate. Zero should not be left out as there was a time not so far back when this brown could give the "D" Class first division ponies a good run in any sprint event and to-morrow will be racing in a lower section. Final selections for the above eight events will be published in to-morrow's issue.

CRICKET NOTES

Promising Army Bowler

BY NEW L.B.W.

No League cricket at all was played last week and only two of the matches, all Junior Division games, produced anything outstanding. A surprise result was the defeat of Kowloon Cricket Club, Junior Champions, at the hands of the University second string. It was a well-deserved victory, the reward of team work.

J. Fong, who used to play for the senior eleven, once again demonstrated that though stroke-making is an essential of attractive batting, it is not absolutely necessary for successful results. Possessed of courage and an inexhaustible supply of patience, Fong has shown before, and in a higher class of cricket, that he is a really difficult bat to dispose of. I well remember his obstinate innings against the Indians two years ago when they had only to beat the University, at that time very near, if not actually at the bottom of the League table, to win the Shield. It was in the game which has come to be known as "Gosano's Match." Actually, although Eddie Gosano did go so near to winning the match on his own as made no difference, Fong did a lot of the groundwork in that he, with some assistance from Tata, if I remember right, wore down the first barrage of the Indian crack bowlers, Frank Pereira and A. R. M'nu. His style of batting that day was not very convincing and half the time he looked like getting out at any moment, but though he did not make many runs he stayed for some considerable time and undoubtedly laid the foundation for Gosano's hurricane hitting that began the discomfiture of the Indians, a discomfiture that ended with them being bundled out by Gosano and Ozorio for 40-odd runs in an incredibly short space of time.

Central British School, on their initial appearance on the local "Headquarters" acquitted themselves with credit. Opposed to a strong Hong Kong Club second eleven, which included L. D. Kilbee, the Interceptor, they were beaten by only one wicket. The school-boys batted first and ran up a score of 124, to which U. Gegg contributed 33 in a useful innings. The Club did not begin any too well, but Kilbee's 36, aided by other useful scores, pulled them through for nine wickets. An amusing feature of the game was the clean-bowling of R. Holden, ex-star C.B.S. cricketer, for a blob. The C.B.S. boys, though perhaps not showing as good results as their rivals, Doonan Boys' School, are just as keen, and a meritorious point about them is the frequency with which they put an "all-boys" side in the field.

Private Hatfield of the Middlesex Regiment appears to be a bowler who will well bear watching by the Army sports authorities. Three weeks ago, playing for Army "A" against the Police in a junior league match, he took seven wickets for 13 runs, bundling the Valley team out for 44, and giving his side a surprise victory.

Last Sunday his Regiment played the same eleven and this time Hatfield went one better, returning the fine figures of eight wickets for 15 runs in eight overs, half of which were maidens. One of the Police players told me (and they should know) that his great forte was length—and the Police pitch is, to put it mildly, "sporty," but full credit must be given to Hatfield for two fine pieces of bowling. There is little fluky about it, as he consistently comes off. It might pay the Army to put him in the junior league games and Army "A" will suffer a great loss, but I feel that if a man is clearly of senior standard, then he should play in the senior division. There is little fun in seeing inexperienced batsmen getting skittled out by bowlers playing below their class, or for that matter, in watching loose bowlers being clouted all over the field by batsmen who likewise

DUTCH EASTERN EMPIRE

Adverse Trade With Japan

REPERCUSSIONS OF WAR

The latest reports from Batavia show an increasing perturbation over the effects on the commerce of the Netherlands East Indies of the Sino-Japanese conflict. Statistics of trade between the Dutch East Indies and Japan since the outbreak of hostilities are not yet available, but those for the first half of this year, which may be regarded as the period of Japan's preparations for war, point to a growing balance in her favour, says the "Times". For several years past the export trade of the Netherlands East Indies had been steadily improving, with Japan as a customer for petroleum, maize, kapok, rubber, and other natural products, which were paid for to a large extent by textiles. The Japanese petroleum law passed last year, under which foreign companies with depots in Japan must keep a supply sufficient to meet six months' demands resulted in the export of this commodity rising from 43,600 tons in the first three months of 1936 to 307,000 tons in the corresponding period of this year, which proportion of increase continued for a short time in the spring. Scrap, iron, maize, tapioca, and kapok seeds also exported in increased quantities, but other exports fell considerably in some cases as much as from 70 to 80 per cent. Sugar, which has been a very important article of export from the East Indies to Japan, fell from 144,000 tons in the first half of 1936, to 85,000 tons in the first half of 1937, a fall of 41 per cent.

HOW SANATORIUM CANCELS DEATH WARRANTS

Means Of Checking Tuberculosis

The Duke of Gloucester recently opened the new Middlesex Sanatorium at Hatfield, which has been built to provide for 378 patients.

Speaking at the opening, the Duke said: "It is especially appropriate that opening of this great sanatorium should take place at a moment when we have embarked on a national campaign to encourage the use of the health services provided by local authorities."

"This building is designed for the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis, and it is difficult to imagine a more worthy and valuable object. To tell a patient not many years ago that he was suffering from consumption was largely the equivalent to signing his death warrant, but now we know that tuberculosis, treated in its early stages, can be a curable disease."

Its death rate has been reduced by nearly three-quarters in the past 50 years, and this remarkable result is greatly contributed to by our modern sanatoria, of which this building is an outstanding example."

A feature of the new building is its shape, which has been described as "aeroplane". The electrical, heating, steam, domestic hot water, telephone, fire alarm, wireless, and other services are distributed from an engineering centre by a system of underground "subways", which link the whole of the building. For general heating there is an invisible panel system.

BOND SALES TOP $7,000,000 MARK

Canton, Dec. 2: With the receipt of $200,000 yesterday, the sales of National Salvation Bonds in Kwangtung Province has topped the $7,000,000 mark. Many merchants from various districts and in Canton are continuing to subscribe to the bond issue.—Central News.

FRENCH STATE LOAN

Paris, Dec. 1. It is officially confirmed that the new internal state loan to be announced to-morrow will be in the form of treasury bonds, bearing a five per cent interest and redeemable three, six and nine years respectively. The issue price will be 995 francs per thousand franc-bonds, and the loan will be in the neighbourhood of two milliard francs.—Reuter.

"ENFORCE ROAD LAWS RIGIDLY"

Judge On Death Toll Problem

"The days for leniency under the Road Traffic Act have passed," said Mr. Justice Atkinson, at Newcastle Assizes recently. His remarks were addressed to local magistrates.

"The road death toll is your problem," he told them, "because so little of it comes our way apart from cases of manslaughter."

"You will remember that civil liability has ceased to be any deterrent, because the liability nowadays falls upon insurance companies. The only way you can help to solve this problem is by rigid enforcement of the powers conferred on you by Parliament."

"Leniency is always pleasant, giving almost as much satisfaction to the judge as to the accused."

"I am not hinting that there should be any weakening in the necessity of proof, but once a case is proved, it does seem to me, and I know, to many of my brother that it is the duty of these dealing with it rigidly to enforce all the power conferred upon them by the Act."

REUNION IN A HOSPITAL

Boyhood Chums Meet Under Dramatic Circumstances

A close friendship that was formed many years ago in America between an American and a Chinese boy, came to a dramatic climax recently in a hospital for wounded soldiers in Shanghai.

The friendship began 22 years ago, when a shy 9-year-old Chinese boy named Albert Chan was admitted to the Horace Mann School in Kansas City, Missouri. The youngster, unused to associating with American children, was very uncomfortable and awkward in his new surroundings, until red-haired Jimmy Spears, an American lad of the same age as Albert, took the timid boy in hand. Jimmy was the "big shot" of his class, and the leader of a "gang" into which Albert was soon initiated.

WAYS PART

From then on Albert lost much of his shyness, and a strong bond of friendship grew between the two boys. Then Albert moved to California, and for a time letters were exchanged until, as so often happens even with the best of friends, they lost touch of each other.

Years passed, and Jimmy Spears grew to manhood, becoming Mr. James A. Spears, a prominent hotel owner. Later still, Mr. Spears sold his interests to take up a business career in China, with Shanghai as his headquarters. He often thought of his boyhood pal, and wondered what had become of Albert.

JOINS ARMY

Meanwhile, Albert had met with a good deal of success as a businessman in New York, but when the current hostilities broke out, he sold his business to enlist in the service of his country, becoming

NEW P. & O. LINER

For Emperor's Indian Tour

Hints that the P. & O. Line intends to make a supreme bid to recapture for Britain the express passenger trade between Europe and the East are contained in a recent London message, which states that a new vessel for the Far East service is already under construction.

The new ship which will be of 16,000 tons, will have a maximum speed of 26 knots, and a cruising speed of 23 knots. She will be completed in 1938.

The maiden trip of the new liner will be to Bombay. On this trip the liner will take Their Majesties the King and Queen to India for the Delhi Durbar.

After the Durbar she will be employed as an express liner between London and Far East, replacing one of the older vessels now on the run.

Three other vessels, of similar tonnage and speed, will be launched. It is believed.

COMPLETE TAX REVISION URGED IN U.S.

Chicago, Dec. 2.

Need for general revision of the entire American tax structure was cited by the Secretary of Commerce, Mr. Daniel Roper, addressing businessmen here yesterday.

Mr. Roper urged tax revision with a view to simplification of the methods of assessment and the equitable distribution of the burden.

He also expressed confidence that a constructive approach would be found to a solution of the utilities dilemma, and that significant developments were forthcoming.

Mr. Roper advocated equal responsibility for labour in management, and immediate constructive treatment of the financial problem of the railroads.

He stressed the importance of the reduction of the National Debt, stating his opinion that the ease with which the Budget could be balanced depended on the co-operation of business as much as on Government economies.

Mr. Roper added that the Government might be forced to emphasize direct relief with a view to coping with unemployment this winter.—Reuter.

FLYING BOATS FOR FAR EAST

Air Marshal Salmond Interviewed

"I am sure that the Imperial flying boats, as a substitution for land aircraft, will be very successful," said Sir John Salmond, a Government director of Imperial Airways, in an interview with the "Times of Malaya" representative on arrival at the Penang airport from London by Imperial plane on his way to Singapore for a five-day stay.

Explaining briefly the purpose of his visit he said it was official, in connection with experimental flights over the Far East route now being carried out. He said, "I had a pleasant journey and the weather was very favourable for flying."

Asked whether he would give any statement regarding the result of the first experimental flight, Sir John said he had not seen the report and was thus unable to give his opinion.

He concluded by saying that he would like to stay at Penang, but was unable owing to pressure of time. He will be in Singapore for five days before he returns to England.

NATIONAL TRUST MAY BUY ROMAN SITE

Highdown Hill Offer

Highdown Hill, near Worthing, where interesting Roman remains were found early this year, is likely to be bought by the National Trust.

Negotiations are being carried out between the National Trust and the West Sussex Council for the purchase of about 50 acres, but no agreement has yet been reached.

It is hoped to keep the site as a permanent open space so that the discoveries can be preserved and further excavations be carried out.

SNORES IN COURT

Sleeper Awakened With Cold Water

While a solicitor was addressing the Bench at Wealdstone, Middlesex, recently loud snores from the public gallery disturbed the court. The sleeping man was nudged by his neighbours. This proved ineffective, and three policemen also failed to rouse him.

They then carried him out of the court and laid him in the corridor—still snoring.

Not until the police had poured cold water on his face did the man awake with a yawn. Then he smiled and, realising what had happened, apologised and left.

COLONY "BLACK-OUT" ON DECEMBER 9

PENALTIES FOR INFRINGEMENT

Government feels that it can confidently rely on the willing co-operation of all responsible members of the community to ensure the success of this experimental "black-out," but it is nevertheless considered necessary to warn the public that the Temporary Regulations, the penalty for any infringement of which is, under section 4 of the Light Control Ordinance, 1936, a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, will be strictly enforced. It is to be expected that the penalties inflicted for any breach of the Regulations will be exemplary and not, as in the case of the "black-out" of March 21 last, merely nominal.

Any enquiries regarding the "black-out" should be addressed to the Deputy Inspector General of Police, Police Headquarters, or to the Extra Assistant Colonial Secretary's Office.

The Temporary Regulations are as follows:—

HONG KONG Ordinance No. 55 of 1936 (Lighting Control)

In exercise of the powers conferred by section 2 of the Lighting Control Ordinance, 1936, the Governor in Council makes the following regulations, by way of practice for an occasion of emergency or public danger, by express command:—

Temporary Regulations

1. These regulations shall be in force during the whole period between the hours of 8 p.m. and 10 p.m. on Thursday the 9th day of December 1937.

2. All lights, whether public or private, which, if unobscured would be visible from the air, from the harbour or from the sea or from any navigable waters, must be extinguished, or, in the case of indoor lights, obscured so as to be invisible from outside and all other lights in the neighbourhood of any water front must be so masked as to prevent, as far as practicable, the reflection of their light upon the water.

Provided that this regulation shall not apply to lights on vehicles or to indispensable navigation, railway or dock lights, or to any light which is approved by a competent naval or military authority.

3. Save as elsewhere provided by these regulations, all external lamps, flares and fixed lights of all descriptions (including sky signs, illuminated fascias, illuminated lettering and outside lights of all descriptions used for advertising or for the illumination of shop fronts) and all aggregations of lights, whether public or private, must be extinguished, except such public lamps as in the opinion of the Inspector General of Police are necessary for safety and any other lights approved by him.

4. In factories, shops, hotels, institutions, dwelling houses, buildings and premises of all descriptions inside lights must be so shaded or reduced or the windows, skylights and glass doors so screened by shutters or dark blinds or curtains, etc. that no more than a dull subdued light is visible from any direction outside the premises.

5. The following restrictions on the use of lights on vehicles shall be observed:—

(a) The use on motor vehicles of headlights of all descriptions is prohibited.
(b) Not more than two lamps showing a light to the front may be used on any vehicle.
(c) No light whatever shall be shown from any stationary vehicle.
6. All instructions given by any police officer for the purpose of enforcing these regulations must be observed.

7. These regulations shall not apply to the New Territories other than New Kowloon.

T. MEGARRY
Clerk of Councils.

Council Chamber,

MURDER CHARGE AT KOWLOON

Opening the case for the Crown, Mr. Williams explained that the front portion of the first floor of 163, Tung Choi Street, was occupied by Lam Fun, Chan Luen, aged 40, and Lam Fat-tong (nephew). In the first cubicle were Li Leung-kwan, 70, and his wife, Tang Kam, aged 40. In the second cubicle was Chan Kwai, 30 (niece), while a bed-space was occupied by Mak Yiu-sin, and her two children, Tse King-fung 14, and Tse Chan-fai, aged 10. The kitchen was common to all the occupants.

Accused, said Mr. Williams, frequently visited Mak Yiu-sin, and had his meals on the floor where he also cooked food and washed dishes, but he did not sleep there. Accused had known her in the country.

About the middle of the eighth moon, accused had a quarrel with Tang Kam over the loss of a water-tap spanner, which belonged to Tang. When the quarrel ended, Tang Kam told accused not to pay any further visits to her house.

Accused, it was alleged, ignored the request and continued to pay visits and then refrained from going to the premises until October 4 when he came back from the country.

On the day in question, about 3 p.m. accused paid a visit to Mak Yiu-sin. Accused was carrying a rattan basket and was dressed in black clothing and shoes. He left the floor after having had his evening meal.

MEAL PREPARED

About 7 a.m. the following day, accused arrived at the premises again with some bean sprouts and went into the kitchen to prepare his meal. At that time, accused, Mak Yiu-sin, Li Leung-kwan and Chan Kwai were on the floor.

Another occupant of the house, Chan Luen, who had returned to the floor about 9.30 a.m. saw Li Leung-kwan and Tang Kam in their cubicle. Tang Kam and Chan Kwai were vomiting. The principal tenant of the first floor was then called. Tang pointed to a bowl of rice which was placed on the table and passed some remarks. Tai Ho, the principal tenant of the floor above, was also summoned for help and she went out to call for rickshaws to convey them to the Kwong Wah Hospital.

ACCUSED SEEN

Accused was seen by Chan Luen in the kitchen. Accused took an aluminium pot which belonged to Tang Kam and put water in it. He picked up a brush, scrubbed it. Accused was also seen by Tai Ho to take a jacket from a rattan basket.

Tang Kam and Chan Kwai were taken to the Kwong Wah Hospital and were examined by Dr. Pau who suspected poisoning and informed the police.

Det-Serg. Headridge went to No. 163, Tung Choi Street where he found Li Leung-kwan, husband of Tang Kam, sick in bed. He took possession of a dish of taro root, a cuspidor found near Li Leung-kwan's bed, a tin of raw rice, an aluminium cooking pot which it was alleged accused had been cleaning, brushes and a rattan basket and sent them to Government Analyst. They were found to contain arsenic oxide.

Chan Kwai and Li Leung-kwan died on October 5 and Tang Kam succumbed the next day.

The stomachs of the deceased persons were found to contain arsenic oxide.

Dr. G. H. Henry's post mortem examinations revealed that death was caused by poisoning in each case.

Evidence was called and the hearing was adjourned till this afternoon.
